

Firstly, img-microgpu1 and img-microgpu2 have retired, too old and obsolete (I'm looking to move the K40 gpu that was in microgpu2 into another server for small tasks).

Then, the authentication on the servers has changed, until now we had an LDAP register hosted in the CBI, this is not the case anymore. You can now authenticate yourself on the servers directly using your IGBMC credentials, so the username should be the same, and if you had the same password, it will then be transparent for you.

Here is the updated name list:

- cbi-compute-01
- cbi-compute-02
- cbi-compute-03
- cbi-compute-04
- cbi-gpu-03
- cbi-gpu-04

From:

<https://bsi.inscog.eu/> - BSI wiki

Permanent link:

https://bsi.inscog.eu/doku.php?id=calculation_servers&rev=1624973327

Last update: 2023/11/01 20:16

